

The Beginning Of The End - A Vanishing Way Of Life At The Columns On The Chattahoochee

There's always been a certain sadness involved in the passing of a way of life. Remember the romantic elegance and grace associated with living on the river? Unfortunately, choice homesites on the Chattahoochee are rapidly disappearing.

The Columns, a luxury residential community located on the Chattahoochee River next to the Atlanta Country Club, now has prestige homes under construction priced from the low $100,000's to $250,000. Of course, life on the river may not be for everyone. However, if you've got that certain style and flair for life that sets you apart from the ordinary, don't let a way of life pass you by.
